Notes for Parents

The Jolly Phonics Activity Books are designed as a fun and multi-sensory way to help young children become familiar with letter sounds and to begin reading and writing. Research shows that children who start school knowing all their letter sounds learn to read faster. These activity books can be used with the Jolly Stories and the Jolly Songs. Each sound is introduced with a short story for you to read to your child. Each sound is also accompanied by an action, which your child can do to help them remember the sound.

Letter Sounds

The sounds are grouped in the following way and should be learned in this order:

Book 1: s, a, t, i, p, n

Book 2: c k, e, h, r, m, d

Book 3: g, o, u, l, f, b

Book 4: ai, j, oa, ie, ee, or

Book 5: z, w, ng, v, oo, oo

Book 6: y, x, ch, sh, th, th

Book 7: qu, ou, oi, ue, er, ar

Letter Formation

You need to check that children are holding the pencil correctly when writing. Look at the diagram above and ensure that the pencil is held between the thumb and the first two fingers. Each letter has a correct starting point and this is indicated by a large dot. In this book there is letter formation practice on pages 5, 9, 13, 21, 25, 29, 31 and 33.

Blending for Reading

Once a group of sounds has been learned, children can start to look at letters, say the sounds and try to blend them together to make the word. Help your child develop this blending skill by pointing to each letter in a word, and saying its sound, for example, 's-u-n'. Once your child can hear the word when it is sounded out, they are ready to say the sounds themselves. Blending needs practice and can start as soon as the first group of sounds has been learned. In this book there is blending practice on pages 34 and 35.

Identifying Sounds for Writing

Your child will need to identify the sounds in a word so as to be able to write that word. The first sound is easiest but your child will need to pick out the others too. Practice for this is on pages 5, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 17, 18, 19, 21, 25, 27, 29 and 30.

Tips for Parents

The lightbulb icon shows where to look for helpful tips and advice on how to use the activity books with your child. Sometimes there are suggestions for further activities you may want to try.

The Story Begins

Inky Mouse is taking pictures for a sound scrapbook she is making to help her friends learn to read.

One day she is out in the Vowel Forest with her camera when she finds Bee crying. Bee is sad because she has lost her way home. She cannot read the sign saying Bee Hive.

Inky offers to teach her to read. This makes Bee happy and they set off looking for something beginning with a 's' sound. Bee knows the very thing...

What do you think Inky is photographing?

Can you think of something beginning with a 's' sound?

Ss

Snake is curled up, asleep, in the sun. CLICK! Someone has taken his picture. Snake stands up and hisses "sssssssss". Inky is very frightened, but Bee tells Snake off. Bee tells Snake that Inky Mouse is taking pictures of things for a book she is making. Inky has promised to teach Bee to read. Snake asks if Inky will teach him to read too.

Tips for Parents

Remember to call 's' by its sound 'sss' and not its name 'ess'.

Seedy Sounds

1

Take four or five pieces of paper towel.

2

Cut them into an 's' shape.

3

Put the pieces onto a plate.

4

Pour water onto the 's' so it is very wet.

5

Sprinkle cress seeds onto the 's'. Try to keep the seeds only on the 's' shape.

6

Keep the towel wet by pouring water onto the plate when it looks dry.

7

When the cress has grown, snip it off and eat it. You could add it to an egg sandwich or salad.

YOU CAN

Use grass seed or mung beans if you don't have cress seed.

NOW YOU CAN

Find stickers that show things beginning with the sound 's'.

Put your stickers on the 's'.

Tips for Parents

You could make a sound scrapbook to help your child learn the letter sounds. Cut out and stick pictures from magazines that start with the same sound or feature the sound in the word.

Aa

Snake tells Inky and Bee that he knows where to find some ants for Inky's next picture. He takes them to an anthill. The ants are all out collecting food from a picnic a family is having nearby - jam sandwiches and apples. Suddenly the little girl jumps up shouting, "a, a, a ants! There are ants crawling up my arm!"
